The optional coursework unit. The work produced here will count towards 25% of each learner's final grade.

Why This Topic?

These units are mainly based on technical information that can be rote learned. All formulate some of the required knowledge for the final exam. Studying them here is advantageous as they can be revisited several times to help long term retrieval.

Why This Topic?

Teachers have this opportunity to identify student weaknesses and thoroughly prepare them for the exam season.
